Title: Bibliographical and philological study of the editions contained in the manuscript Plan.Mss.464, Index of Prohibited Books from the Pianetti Library (17th–18th centuries), preserved at the Planettiana Municipal Library of Jesi.

Offer description: The research project aims to conduct a systematic survey of the editions recorded in the manuscript Indice dei libri proibiti (Plan.Mss.464), which originates from the historical book collection of the Pianetti family and is currently preserved at the Biblioteca Comunale Planettiana in Jesi. The investigation will involve a thorough philological and bibliographical analysis, carried out through direct examination of the exemplars, aimed at identifying each individual witness, providing an accurate material description, and documenting paratextual elements such as annotations, marginal notes, expurgations, stamps, ownership marks, and other material traces of reading, use, and censorship. Special attention will be devoted to the stratification of censorial practices and to the historical and cultural context of the book collection. This approach will allow for comparisons with national and international repertoires and databases, with the goal of opening up new avenues of research and fostering collaborations with related institutions.
